The Washington Center Experience

There's no better way to launch your career than spending a semester or summer with The Washington Center. While immersed in the dynamic city of Washington, D.C., you'll have an experience that's just not possible in a traditional campus setting.

You'll sharpen in-demand skills, learn how to navigate a professional environment and gain a clear edge in the competition for postgraduate employment with a substantive internship.

But an internship is only part of the story.

One of the many things that makes The Washington Center's program so valuable is its combination of real-world experience and academic coursework.

You'll choose from a wide variety of evening courses offered to complement your internship and deepen your understanding of your chosen field.

You'll reflect on your experiences, hear from and engage with leaders, and wrestle with important local, national and international issues through the LEAD Colloquium.

When you leave The Washington Center, you'll have a better understanding of yourself—what you want and where you're headed. You'll be equipped with the confidence and sense of purpose to thrive in a highly competitive global marketplace.

And you'll be prepared to make a lasting impact on your community and society at large.

Marie-Claude Lavoie
TWC Internship Supervisor,
Pan American Health
Organization

“TWC’s screening process saves us time, money and effort. They send us only the right students with the right skill sets who have just the right blend of academic training, motivation and character. Their energy, their enthusiasm and their dedication to the job at hand are infectious.”

Pre-Arrival Experience

TWC matches you with an internship. Throughout this process, our internship advisors offer assistance and feedback.

Acceptance

Internship Advising

One of TWC’s internship advisors schedules an advising session with you to:

Define goals and expectations based on your interests, knowledge and skills.

Review your resume and offer tips for improvement.

Discuss next steps in the internship matching process.

Explore potential internship site opportunities.

Launch Your Career

The Internship

The Washington Center serves students in many academic majors with interests in a wide range of fields. These include the government, nonprofit and business arenas as well as others that may partially overlap with them—the worlds of media and communications, science and technology, law and criminal justice and international affairs. Let us know your professional interests and goals, and we'll find you substantive and exciting internship options.

TWC internships give you the chance to work almost full time, allowing you to feel like a member of the staff at your office. You may assist attorneys during a trial, evaluate capital markets, help in radio or television production or attend congressional hearings. You could be conducting research, advocating policy positions, writing a business plan or developing websites and databases. The possibilities are endless.

The Washington Center's Internship Matching Process

The Washington Center maintains ties with hundreds of organizations that provide high-quality internships in the D.C. area and knows which sites offer the best experiences to students.

TWC will help you be considered for opportunities that fit you well. You will be assigned an internship advisor with whom you should stay in close touch throughout the internship matching process.

The internship advising team offers a variety of resources that can help you prepare for your interviews, enhance your professional communication and plan to make the most of your time in Washington.

You will likely have a phone or Skype conversation with a potential supervisor who is interested in you, and you will have the chance to accept or decline an offer after it is extended. Your internship advisor will provide guidance regarding specific options to help you make the final decision. The process will continue until you have a position secured.

Rising China: U.S.–China Relations in the 20th and 21st Centuries

“I teach TWC courses related to East Asia and Chinese history and Chinese-U.S. economic relations. The opportunity to work with TWC students from different backgrounds and schools has been a stimulating intellectual challenge for me over the years, and this fact, together with the ever-changing nature of the United States’ relationship with Asia, keeps the topics fresh and relevant. I am happy to say that I still hear from some of my former students now out making their own careers.”

Pursue Your Intellectual Interests

The Evening Course

An academic course is an integral part of your learning experience at The Washington Center. You'll be able to choose one of up to 25 courses typically offered each semester or summer term.

All courses meet for three hours one night a week but are otherwise like courses taught on your campus. In many cases, they have a direct relationship to the work you're doing throughout the week and range from politics and business to international affairs and communications.

The courses are led by highly qualified faculty who are dedicated teachers. They are grounded in traditional disciplines yet taught within the context of the wide array of resources available in Washington, D.C.

Frequently offered courses include:

American Politics and Public Policy

- Campaigning for a Cause: How Advocacy Groups Change the World
- Government and Business in the New Economic and Political Reality

Business, Management and Public Administration

- Global Markets and International Business Strategies
- From Ideas to Action: The Anatomy of Entrepreneurship

Communications

- Media and the Movies
- Mass Media and American Politics

International Affairs and Foreign Policy

- U.S. Foreign Policy
- Rising China: U.S.–China Relations in the 20th and 21st Centuries
- How Washington Engages the Arab Middle East

Law and Criminal Justice

- Philosophy of Law, the Supreme Court and the U.S. Constitutional Tradition
- Forensic Psychology
- Introduction to Criminal Law and Criminal Procedure

Leadership

- Essentials for Aspiring Leaders
- Nonprofit Leadership and Management

Research

- Research and Writing Seminar

Washington, D.C.-focused courses

- Scandalous Washington: Uncovering D.C. History

For a list of academic courses, please visit www.twc.edu/courses16.

Build Your Leadership Potential

Leadership, Engagement, Achievement, Development (LEAD) Colloquium

The Washington Center produces professionals who are not only successful within their fields but also well-informed citizens and engaged leaders within their communities across the world. You'll take part in the LEAD Colloquium every Friday, but no two Fridays will be the same.

Colloquium Groups

You'll meet regularly with your LEAD instructor in a small group to discuss critical reflection, leadership, professional development and other topics.

Professional Tracks

Along with other students who share your professional interests, you'll benefit from panel discussions, site visits and briefings that give you a uniquely D.C. experience (see sidebar for track options).

Civic Engagement

You'll attend educational sessions, volunteer your time with an organization of your choice and take part in a public policy dialogue (see sidebar for additional details).

Alan K. Simpson-Norman Y. Mineta Leaders Series

During these events, you'll hear the perspectives of distinguished leaders from the business, nonprofit, media, government and diplomatic fields. Past topics of conversation have included the role of the United States in the world, race in America and the 2016 presidential campaign.

Career Boot Camp

You'll prepare for the job search by learning, observing and applying strategies that will make you stand out as a candidate.

Global Citizenship Day (fall and spring only)

Along with students from many other countries, you'll enhance several cross-cultural skills that will arm you to succeed in an increasingly interconnected world.

Portfolio

While in Washington, D.C., you will construct a portfolio of your work, documenting your activities and accomplishments for your home institution and prospective employers. Your portfolio will also give you a chance to reflect on your experiences and plan strategically for your future path of leadership.

 For details on the LEAD Colloquium, please visit www.twc.edu/LEAD16.

Professional Tracks

Every TWC student selects a focus area from among the following options:

- Advocacy, Service & Arts
- Business & Global Trade
- International Affairs
- Law & Criminal Justice
- Media & Communications
- Politics & Public Policy
- Science, Technology & Society (summer only)

For qualified seniors, recent graduates or graduate students, TWC offers:

- Global Competencies Program (former Postgraduate Professional Development Program)

TWC also offers the following special programs for students from select regions:

- Ford Motor Company Global Scholars (select countries)
- Governors (Mexico)
- President's Program (select countries)

Civic Engagement Workshops

On several occasions, you will attend workshops related to political and social engagement.

Sample Topics:

- Campaign & Party Volunteering
- Collective Action
- Disability Rights Movement
- Grassroots Organizing
- Homelessness
- Nonprofit Sector
- Service Year Opportunities
- Veterans
- Women in Politics

Katharyn Nicolle '13
Dickinson College
TWC Alumna in Residence

“The Washington Center program was one of the most important things that I did during my undergraduate career. I received an education that I could not get inside of a classroom and the semester served as a bridge between my college experiences and my professional life. My favorite aspect of being an alumna in residence with TWC is helping students discover Washington, D.C. for the first time. I enjoy getting to know my favorite city all over again through their eyes.”

Live in TWC Housing

If you choose TWC housing, you will join a professional living community. You'll share an apartment with fellow interns, either in our Residential and Academic Facility at NoMa near Capitol Hill, or in one of a few other carefully selected buildings in the neighborhood.

This growing part of the city is conveniently located to many restaurants and stores, and you'll also find several transportation options—including D.C.'s Metro system—within a few blocks.

You'll likely be matched with three other students in a furnished apartment with two bedrooms, two bathrooms, a living and dining area and a fully-equipped kitchen. You'll also have access to a fitness center and laundry facilities, as well as high-speed wireless internet, cable and local phone service.

You'll live independently, but you won't be left totally on your own. With its staff of student services professionals and alumni in residence assigned to each facility, The Washington Center ensures that support is always available.

TWC Student Services & Community Life

- Career Services (optional workshops on public speaking, informational interviewing, LinkedIn, and more!)
- Social Engagement (group runs on the National Mall, karaoke nights, salsa dancing lessons, weekend bus trips, and many other activities)
- Disability Services
- International Student Success

Charlene Portell '14
University of Puerto Rico

“Having the opportunity to be part of TWC helped me develop personally and professionally. This program has impacted me in a significant way. Living in the nation’s capital, interacting with people from different cultures and meeting leaders in my field was one of the best experiences of my life. Also, TWC offered various seminars, workshops and events that gave me the tools to succeed in a professional environment. This program is the chance of a lifetime—to learn new things, to explore a great city and especially to network. You never know who might be right beside you.”

 To read about other students’ experiences through their blogs, please visit www.twc.edu/blogs.

Explore the Nation’s Capital

At The Washington Center, you get not only great work and learning experience but also great life experience. Living in the U.S. capital is like nothing else in the world. The city’s energy is remarkable at both work and play. There’s so much to see and do, and it’s all at your doorstep as a TWC intern.

Washington offers impressive architecture and monuments, incredible museums, world-class theater, great nightlife, a rich international community and restaurants with a wide range of cuisines. Throughout your time with TWC, you’ll experience the city in a way that tourists never could.

Best of all, you’ll get to know fellow students from the United States and around the world. You’ll participate in a variety of social activities, trips and adventures together. And by the time the program concludes, you’ll have created friendships that remain strong for many years in the future.

Your D.C. To-Do List:

- World-famous monuments
- Hiking in Great Falls, VA, kayaking on the Potomac, and other outdoor activities
- The Smithsonian museums, including the National Air and Space Museum and National Gallery of Art (all free!)
- The Newseum, International Spy Museum and many art galleries
- World-class performances of theater, music and dance
- Nationals baseball, Wizards basketball and other sporting events
- Brown-bag lunches at think tanks
- Free concerts on the National Mall

Eligibility

The information below outlines TWC's general requirements. Because your school may have additional requirements, we encourage you to contact your campus liaison before beginning the application process.

To be eligible, students must:

- Be at least 18 years of age.
- Attend an accredited college or university with at least four semesters completed before participating.
- Maintain a grade point average (GPA) of at least 3.0 on a 4.0 scale. Students with a lower GPA may be considered.
- Have a TOEFL minimum score of 550 (80 on the Internet-based test) or other official equivalent exam; waived in certain cases.
- Receive academic credit from their college or university for their participation in the internship program; exceptions apply.
- Have the approval of their campus liaison or faculty sponsor.

The Global Competencies Program (former Postgraduate Professional Development Program) is only for:

- Qualified, pre-selected seniors; recent graduates (within 18 months); or graduate students.

For more details on eligibility, please visit www.twc.edu/global-eligibility.

J-1 Visa and Health Insurance

TWC is a designated J-1 visa sponsor by the U.S. State Department. It is mandatory that you enter the United States with your J-1 visa. Once you're accepted into TWC's program, you will be given all of the necessary information about how to secure your J-1 visa. Special provisions may be available for Canadian citizens.

You must also certify that you have a valid health insurance policy to comply with U.S. State Department regulations.

For more information on these requirements, please visit www.twc.edu/j-1-visa.

Dates and Deadlines

TWC offers programs during the spring, summer and fall. Please check with the liaison at your university, as some universities may have earlier deadlines. Students who will be applying for a J-1 visa should use the priority deadline to allow for as much preparation time as possible.

For detailed information on our deadlines, please visit www.twc.edu/deadlines.

Step-by-Step Admissions Guide

TWC staff are available to assist you at every stage of the admissions process. Many of the application components you submit will be referred to prospective internship sites after you are accepted.

Decision Making

Discuss credit and cost arrangements with your liaison.

Consider timing (fall, spring or summer).

Talk to your parents.

Contact info@twc.edu with any questions.

Preparation

Review the checklist of supporting documents for the application.

Identify letter of recommendation providers.

Request transcripts.

Confirm your liaison's approval.

Meet with your career services office to review your resume.

Identify fields of interest for your internship.

Program Costs and Scholarships

TWC charges a program fee as well as a housing fee (see table at right). These costs vary based on the length of the program. Program and housing fees are listed separately, as students are not required to stay in TWC's housing.

TWC currently offers three scholarship opportunities for which international students may be eligible. These scholarships are contingent on using TWC housing and successfully completing the program (with a grade of C or better in each component). Please note that our scholarships are not available to participants in our Global Competencies Program and funding may vary each semester.

TWC scholarships for international students include the following:

- Civic Engagement Award: Recipients are public-spirited and socially engaged, making a positive impact among a community of people around them.
- Professional Achievement Award: Recipients have demonstrated a commitment to career advancement evidenced by membership in professional organizations or prior work experience.
- International Leadership Award: Recipients have a record of involvement and leadership in relevant settings (college or university, community, etc.).

 To see the most up-to-date information on financial aid and eligibility requirements, please visit www.twc.edu/global-aid.

 For other general questions, please email internationalinfo@twc.edu.
